

The role of agriculture in rural development strategies of marginal areas and short food supply chains in LEADER programmes

Angelo Belliggiano

Profesor Universidad de Molise, Italia

Department of Agricultural, Environmental and Food Sciences

angelo.belliggiano@gmail.com, belliggi@unimol.it

Tipo de actividad: Seminario/taller

Fecha y horario: 26 de abril de 2018, de 10:00 a 14:00 horas,

Lugar de realización: Laboratorio de Geografía Humana, Facultad de Filosofía y Letras, Universidad de Granada

Organiza: Máster en Análisis y Gestión del Territorio: Planificación, gobernanza y liderazgo territorial y Programa de Doctorado en Ciudad, Territorio y Planificación Sostenible.

Programa de la actividad formativa:

1. Agricultural externalities and market failures
2. Rural policies
3. Regional and local strategies
4. Farm management constraints
5. Italian study cases

Objetivos: The seminar facilitates the understanding and deepening of the themes of rural development through the presentation and comparison of cases related to two different countries addressed to the same European policies (in particular the second pillar of the CAP). The seminar could also stimulate new needs for further studies, facilitating the development of mobility programs for study, research, thesis or internship activities, with a multi-disciplinary and jointly-led approach.

UGR Universidad de Granada

